

For immediate release

June 10 2010

What to do this summer?

Saint John, NB – It's that time of year again, time to plan your summer vacation.

It is up to you what you plan for your vacation this summer, but your budget determines if you can actually do it.

“It is important to plan for your summer vacation covering all aspects from how much money you can spend and knowing what your options are within your budget,” says John Eisner, President of Credit Counselling Services of Atlantic Canada, Inc (CCSAC).

Make a list of what you would like to do this summer, categorize into lists titled free, little cost, affordable and costly. Then develop your budget, look at what you have saved towards vacation, what extra money will be available and where you can cut current costs. “The more you plan, the more you will enjoy your summer vacation,” says Tamara Kelly, Education Coordinator.

CCSAC has a newsletter full of ideas to plan your vacation

<http://www.solveyourdebts.com/english/newsletter>. Follow us on twitter for more tips @SolveYourDebts.

CCSAC is a registered charitable, non-profit organization, providing confidential and professional credit counselling and debt repayment programs to families and individuals. CCSAC has offices located throughout Atlantic Canada. For more information on our services please visit www.solveyourdebts.com.

--- 30 ---

For more information contact:

Tamara Kelly

Education Coordinator

Credit Counselling Services of Atlantic Canada

Tel: (888)753-2227 ext 219

Email: tamara@solveyourdebts.com